

How do we use your location on our website?

We think it is important that you get the right information provided to you first time, for this reason we have tailored our website to serve accurate programme content based on where you are located.

When you first arrive on our website we undertake a reverse lookup of your IP address (what's this?) and use a third party service to get a pretty good idea on which country you are located. We present that back to you and ask you to confirm this before you can proceed to visit our website.

Currently, the options are:

New Zealand (Domestic)

- You are located in New Zealand and,
- If you are a citizen or resident class visa holder of New Zealand or Australia

New Zealand (International)

- You are located in New Zealand and,
- If you are not a citizen or resident class visa holder of New Zealand or Australia

Global

- You are located in any other country

What does it change when I visit the website?

We use the selected location to tailor this information:

- Website promotions
- Homepage video
- Related news
- Available programmes
- Supporting programme overview and factsheet download content
- Locations and start dates
- Fees
- Ability to apply
- Contact details

This means that depending on your location you may not see all of the programmes we offer as they are not available in your country.

How do I change my location?
