

Lynda.com transitioning to LinkedIn Learning

Lynda.com training videos are re-branding under LinkedIn Learning, so all students will need to activate their account to pick up the new service, as it's not automatic. In addition, users can optionally link their LinkedIn profile to show the learning they've achieved to prospective employers to prove they have those skills. Plus they get video recommendations personalised to their field and interests.

All NMIT students will receive two emails about this during the upgrade period, the first will be as follows:

Hi,

Since being acquired by LinkedIn, we've been hard at work on a new product called LinkedIn Learning. With LinkedIn Learning, the same great content from Lynda.com is delivered through an intuitive, new learning experience that's powered by insights from the LinkedIn network. With LinkedIn Learning, you can discover the skills you need to advance your career with personalized course recommendations based on your experience.

We've been in touch with your account's admin and your organization is scheduled to upgrade to LinkedIn Learning on 7/18/2019. Your account may be temporarily unavailable when all of your learning activity and history is seamlessly transferred to LinkedIn Learning. After the upgrade is completed, you'll receive an email to activate your LinkedIn Learning account and will be able to pick up right where you left off. Visit our upgrade website to get to know LinkedIn Learning and the upgrade process. Please note that after your scheduled upgrade date you will no longer be able to access Lynda.com.

Thanks for being a valuable Lynda.com member!

Best Regards,

The Lynda.com Team

Second email will be titled "Nelson Marlborough Institute of Technology has given you access to LinkedIn Learning." - for your action, as follows:

This is asking you to activate your new LinkedIn Learning account by clicking the button.

How do you know that “Activate Account Now” link is OK?

Hover your mouse over it and it'll come up with a long link starting https://www.linkedin.com/..... - that's the genuine LinkedIn address.

You can also connect your personal LinkedIn account, or create and connect if you don't have one, but this is optional.

If you don't activate your new account, you can't get access to the old Lynda.com videos.
