What will happen if I misuse the computer network?

Rachel Rees - 2021-08-05 - Using campus computers & printers

You will normally be given one warning by Information Technology Customer Services (ITCS). If you continue to misuse the network after this warning, ITCS will suspend your network access.

If you significantly misuse the network, ITCS will suspend your network access without warning. When your network access is suspended, ITCS will immediately inform your Programme Area Coordinator. Your Programme Area Coordinator is responsible for all further handling of the situation.